The Financial Transaction Bank Credit Cards; An Islamic Perspective

Ahmed El-murdi Saeed Omar (Ph.D)
Faculty of Shariah and Islamic Studies
Al-wasl University
United Arab Emirates- Dubai
E-mail: ahmedelmurdi@gmail.com; ahmedelmurdi@yahoo.com
Phone: +971 504751430

ABSTRACT

This conference paper aims to explore the historical background to bank credit cards, the development of being using the plastic cards, classification of bank cards, characteristics and benefits of each class of cards. The researcher in the light of APA style of referencing selected the descriptive analytical methodology, whereby he intends to describe every type of bank cards, classify it, and then he collaborates analysis with the usage and benefits of each card. The presumed problems which have been interacted with the presentation of this paper such as: what are bank credit cards? How it has been developed? What are the international organizations that introduced plastic cards? How these companies settle the payment between the card holder, the bank where he opened account and the business center, where he purchases goods or enjoyed services? The expected findings and forecasting contributions of the paper tends to explore the views of Shariah Law pertaining the legality of using plastic bank credit cards, describing the acts and behavior which is not lawful according to provisions of Shariah Law, moreover it includes the legal basis for collecting fees by the bank managements as their services being offered to credit card holders.

Keywords: Bank credit cards, Visa, Master card, Amex, American express, Juristic resolution, Fatwas International Islamic juristic assembly,..

INTRODUCTION

This paper starts by providing a brief on some literature review and main points for presentation as follows:

Various authors wrote papers, books and post graduate thesis on this selected topic which presented and published in different languages such as:

2. Ali el saloos (1423H): Mausoat El Qadaya El- fiqyat Al Muasirat, 7th edit, Dar Althaqafah, Qatar
The main points for presentations are:

It consists of four parts.
Part(1)- Definition and historical background of bank credit cards:
Part(2)- characteristics and benefits of credit cards.
Part(3)- Types of the credit cards.
Part(4)- Islamic Jurisprudential Provisions on the usage of Bank Credit Cards:

Part (1) – Definition and Historical Background of Bank Credit Cards :

The specialist in the field of banking and finance and economists provide various definitions for bank credit cards such as :

1. Credit card could be defined as a payment card that enables the holder to make purchases and to draw cash up to pre-arranged limited.
2. A bank issued card that allows consumers to purchase goods or services from a merchant on credit.
3. A piece of plastic used instead of cash or cheques authorizing payment for goods and services, etc...
In addition to other synonymous definitions which bears correspondent meaning.

Historical Backgrounds

With reference to British encyclopedia the Briticana the usage of credit cards commenced earlier since 1920’s at limited states of America. At the initial stage the individual companies such as hotels and oil field stations starting issuing them for customers to clear their purchases. This phenomenon increased widely in the years after Second World War. The foremost cards that used officially for the first time the one that issued and introduced by Diner club by 1950. According to this financial system the companies offering the customers the cards for annual fee and bill them on monthly basis on the other hand another universal card was established in 1958, it was American Express Company.

Then later credit card system was explored, at this stage the companies and banks credit the account of merchant the sales of goods and offering then card holders at the end of the period , then the customer in return will either pay the bank the whole balance or in monthly installments with interest. The first national bank that started plan nationwide basis was bank of America in 1959 at California. The policy and financial system of this bank was licensed in other states in 1966 and later was visa card in 1976. Then later in the following years MasterCard was appeared and registered.

Part (2) Characteristics and Benefits of Credit Cards

As the specialist mentioned earlier on the definition of credit card that” is a plastic card with measured size and edge, where the name secret number and other unseen details are included, it qualifies enabling the customer to withdraw cash money and pay the cost of purchases either the holder of the card is an individual or organization. Therefore the characteristics could be summarized as follows:-

Firstly
The credit card required association of three participants as follows; the bank that issued the credit card, the customer the card holder and the merchant. Now let me highlight these three relationships;

1. The banks that issued VISA and MasterCard allowed the customer to clear the charges of their purchased goods everywhere globally.
2. The second function of the credit card it assumed as a source of international currency, if you have the card you may insert at in ATM machine at US, France, Russia anywhere in the world you will be eligible to get that currency through the cash dispenser which are linked to either visa or Master Card Company.
3. Credit card played another role it qualify the holder to borrow any amount of the money from the bank to certain level which restricted by the bank that issued the card until certain level.

Secondly
Flexibility and convenience of payment at home and abroad.it is so obviously any holder of payment card if he travelled to abroad countries for business or holiday, at the moment he favored Visa, Master, Amex or Diner card at abroad payment center. They so accepted widely and globally. This means in other words , if somebody interested to travel abroad countries no need to carry large amount of money with you or even no need to carry plenty cheques. It is sufficient to just hold your payment card.

Thirdly
Credit or payment card would arrange the obligations between three parties; the bank will obligate to clear the cost of prices on behalf of holder of the card, the business center is obligated to accept the card for the clearance of goods and finally holders obligated before the bank to clear the balance.

Fourth
Payment cards having more advantages over travelling cheques or even currency because both of them they need more time to be spent than payment cards.

Fifth
Customers protection ; because in the Law of business the purchased goods should delivered successfully to the customers in case there is failure for deliverance to the purchased goods the customer with the usage of payment card could be able to refund his money or compensated.

Sixth:-
Customers who are card holders are eligible to meet discount or get bonuses when they will go to private health or medical center or when their cars need repairing or if they want to spent their holidays at club.

Seventh
Issuance payment cards determine the holder of the card had already opened an account with bank because when the bank paid the purchased goods on behalf of the card holder it means customer already deposit amount of money with him.
Eighth
Free insurance cover; some card holders may not be aware that some credit payment card may occasionally come with their free insurance which covering the goods or services. These might come in to three categories such as:-

1) Replacement of goods; if for example the goods that you have purchased with the card has been damaged, lost or stolen within three month some card issuers will guarantee for you the replacement.

2) Travelling accident insurance: some card issuers include in to their card holders to insured for the risk of travelling or risk of life then if the holder of the card of the land affected with serious injuries within the travelling they will be insured

3) Insurance for the delay of travelling: if the preparations for travelling had been delayed for any reason some cards issuers include payment of a compensation for the travellers.

Ninth
Issuance of Bank payment card through the electronic system involve availability of international organization that issues these cards such as visa and master card to include very sophisticated banking operational system to settle the payment between the banks.

Part (3) – Types of the Credit Cards:
There are various types of the credit cards herein are some patterns:

1) Standard Credit cards : They are two types:
   a) Balance transfer Credit Cards
   b) Low Interest Credit Cards

2) Credit Card with Rewards Programs : They are three Types
   a) Airlines Credit Cards
   b) Cash Back Credit Cards
   c) Reward Credit Cards

3) Credit Cards for Bad Credit: They are two types:
   a) Secured Credit Cards,
   b) Prepaid Debit Cards,

4) Speciality Credit Cards: They are two types
   a) Business Credit Cards,
   b) Student Credit Cards,

Brief Explanation about every type:

1) Standard Credit cards: which are two types of Credit Cards: Balance transfer Credit cards / Lower Transfer Credit Cards. The balance transfer credits Cards are designed to permit customer to transfer higher interest credit cards into a credit card with Lower interest rate which will save the money as interest between the values of the transferred credit cards.

2) Credit Cards with Reward Programs ; which are three:
   a) Air lines Credit Cards: This type of credit card whenever you use if Air Lines miles we credit you it used to be called: frequent flyer miles. These types of cards are greater for customers or holder who always or frequently travels.
3) Credit Cards for Bad Credit: They are two categories:
   a) Secured Credit Cards: To obtain this credit card a security deposit of a predetermined is needed in order to secure your credit card. Then a reward may come in a form of car, boat, jewellery or else.
   b) Prepaid Credit card: Prepaid credit card indeed they are not credit card but they are rather used as credit cards. The only advantage of this credit card there will be no financial charges and it will avoid the holder of the cards debts.

4) Speciality Credit Cards: They are two types as we mentioned earlier:
   a) Business Credit Cards: this type of card for business man, executive and others the benefit is to get low introductory rate, cash back rewards, airlines rewards etc.
   b) Student Credit Cards: Student generally find difficulty to get credit cards, therefore banks designed for them this type of the cards. The student’s credit cards at time scaled back in terms of rewards feature and other type of benefits.

Part. (4)- Islamic Jurisprudential Provisions on Usage of Bank Credit Cards:-
To provide the legality to use plastic credit card according to provision of Islamic jurisprudence’s. Three views on legality should be implemented:-

Firstly:
Resolution of International Islamic of Jurists Assembly in Arabic (12/02/08) (قرار مجمع الفقه الإسلامي الدولي)
Within its second summit held at Riyadh Saudi Arabia regarding validity of using bank credit cards, the summary of juristic resolution was as follows:

1. It is totally prohibited to use bank credit card when the holder doesn’t deposit sum of money in his account at the bank, like wise it is prohibited to use it if the bank constitutes usurious increment of interest.
2. It is allowed to possess the bank credit card in case the holder doesn’t have deposit on two cases:
   a) As cost for services rendered to the card holder by the bank or as a cost for renewal, or for clearance to the cost of the purchased commodities or service on behalf of the card holders.
   b) The bank authorizes amount from the account of the card holder as commission for clearance the cost of purchased goods at business centers on behalf of the traders, customers since they are card holders.
3. It is allowed for the card holders to withdraw from their deposited account if there is no usurious estipulated increment by the bank management.
4. It is totally ban or prohibited to sell and purchase gold, silver or foreign exchange currency with the usage of bank credit card when the holder doesn’t own a sum of money equivalent to such transaction in his account at the moment that selling or purchasing is done.
Secondly
Juristic measures on the validity to the usage bank credit card with reference to document no (61) issued by Accounting and Auditing Organization for Islamic Financial Institutions: (8) which bearing the title: Miyar Shariy no (61) item no (3-5) PP:6-10

1. The non renewable bank credit cards :-
   a) Is instrument issued to enable holder to withdraw money within limited ceiling and on specific period of time.
   b) Bank credit card can be used to pay the cost of purchased goods and services within specific agreed amount of money.
   c) The bank that issued the credit card should never receive any amount or commission from the holder rather from the bank of the business center where the holder purchased goods or received services.
   d) Bank normally received some commission deducted from the account of customers of other banks when they used their payment machines.
   e) Banks the issuers of the credit card obligated to pay the cost of goods and services within specific agreed ceiling to the business centers through the international companies that introduced the credit cards.
   f) The card holder obligated before the bank that issued the credit card to refund the costs of the purchased goods or services.

2. The renewable bank credit cards :-
   a) This type of credit card is an instrument for withdrawal and payment for goods and services
   b) In case of selling and purchasing or withdrawal , the holder of the card is not entitled to pay any usurious interest to the bank

3. The prescribed fees for bank credit cards :-
   a) The fees that enforced on card holder by the bank management should not be increased more than the normal fees that valid to all holders.
   b) Incase if there is need to increase the fees of the credit card then the management of the bank should consider issuance fees, renewal fees, exchange card fees , exchanging currency fees etc..
   c) Fees enforced on card holder based on negotiation between bank management and credit card holders:-
   d) Fees that deducted by the bank of business centers where by percentage of these fees will refunded to the issuer of the card. While other specific percentage will be refunded to international company that organizing usage of credit card such as : VISA , MASTER CARD, AMEX,AMERICAN EXPRESS
   e) Fees for participation and commission due to service rendered to international companies those organizing issuing bank credit cards.
   f) Fees that prescribed by management of issuers bank for rendering services to card holders such as: cash withdrawal, renewal, exchange of card and exchanging money with foreign currency.
   g) Fees that prescribed and enforced by the management of the bank which owned ATM machine that dispersing cash payment to credit card holders.
Bank Participation in Association of the International Organization for Issuance Credit Cards:

a) Banks are Islamically authorized to participate in association of international companies such as visa, master card, Amax and others on condition that they should avoid establishment to all transaction that violate Shariah law for example: usury, selling alcohol, etc.

1. Banks are Islamically authorized to pay any prescribed fees due to their membership with international organization that used their regional companies to issue credit cards.
2. Banks are Islamically allowed to receive any encouragement donation offered by international organization that associated with to introduce banking credit cards.

Payment the prices of gold and silver with the usage of credit card:

Holders of bank credit cards are allowed to pay the prices of purchased silver and gold with observation and compliance to shariah laws that provided in the contract of exchanging currencies or in Arabic “Ajdu Alsarf”

Thirdly:
Juristic “fatwas” Declared on Permissibility on the Usage of Bank Credit Cards:

There were various fatwa or juristic declaration on permissibility of the usage of credit cards some of these specialized institutions:

1. Qarat Al-Haiat Al-Sharyat: masrif El rajhi Riyad, Arabia Saudia– which means “juristic resolution of monitoring panel at El-raj bank Saudi Arabia” No(869/2/1302H)
2. Qarat wa tawsyt nadwat el-baraka , legislated el-Islami which means “ juristic resolution and recommendation for specialized committees at Islamic bank of Baraka , Arabia the second summit pp:201-202
3. Al dawabid almustakhalsa min qararat al haiat el sharyayh li bank al bilad , which means “ Juristric restrictions summery of resolutions for jurists panel at bank el bilad Arabia Saudia restriction no : 346 p : 101

The above mentioned Islamic institutions constituted their “fatwas”: or jurist declaration s on the following principles:

a) The basic rules that governs establishment of contract and supportive conditions is the permissibility.

b) The usage of credit card should never involved any usurious praction or other prohibited contract, because the withdrawal would be done directly on the credit card of the holder.

c) The credit card is similar to other payment card which classified as lawful banks credit cards according to the fatwas or declared resolutions of international Juristics assemblies in the world as we mentioned in this context.
CONCLUSION

Findings
At the end of this paper the researcher means to state the following findings:

1. Financial credit cards such as American Express, Visa, Amex and others are offered by International Organizations.
2. Every credit card has three interrelations:
   - The producer of the card, which is a bank, organization, or business center.
   - The holder of the card, who is a customer.
   - The party who is offering services to the customers and received payment through financial cards.
3. The introductory organization to financial cards used to adopt very sophisticated financial techniques to settle payment of their holder of the cards and the cost of services and banks that offered the cards.
4. Banks presently used to issue different types of payment card, therefore, customers should determine at instance stage which card is suitable for them.
5. There are different types of credit cards such as: reward credit card, balance transfer card, airlines credit cards, business credit card, and others.
6. It is a prerequisite for a credit holder to open an account with the bank that introduced the credit card.
7. The credit card might include life insurance or insurance against theft or armed robbery.
8. The credit card might be used for purchasing gold and silver.
9. Banks are authorized to collect some fees for rendering services to card holders such as: issuance of credit card, exchange domestic money to international money, and other services.
10. The national bank is allowed Islamically to associate with international organizations that issued bank credit card such as Visa, MasterCard, Amex, and others.

Recommendations:
Let me forward the following recommendations:

1. The provisions of Shariah law never prevent any new discovery, technology advancement since it is not contradict with the principles of Islam.
2. The international Islamic Jurisdiction assemblies as mentioned in this conference paper issued various fatwas to legality practice of plastic cards.
3. The entire western European and American Universities are advised to adopt learning and implement the Islamic banking and economic systems for their simplicity, flexibility, and justice.
NOTES AND REFERENCES

3. Faiz Naim Ridwan: Bitagat Al-daf allialactroni, Matbat Al fufrhah, pp.18-19. (the author is a professor in commercial law and dean faculty of law , police academy Dubai, UAE)
7. Resolution of international Islamic of Jurists of Riyadh, Arabia (No;108/2/12)
8. Document no (61) issued by accounting and auditing organization for Islamic financial institution.
9. Yasir bin Ibrahim bin Mohammed El khuda: Al bitagat Al raqamyyat , Dirasatfiqahyyat tatal byggyyat (the author is a Lecturer (Ph.D) faculty of shariah ,Imam Mohammed Bin Saud University, Saudi Arabia , is a paper published on majalat el ulum al shariah , vol (50),(440H): PP 317-388
10. Shaikh Ahmed bin Tayymiyat; Majmooa Al Fatawa, jam wa tarteeb shaik abdul rahman bin Qasim, distribution of ministry of religious affairs, Saudi Arabia (1426H).